

The Trafalgar Way is Britain's first national historic carriage route, and it tells an epic story! It traces the 271-mile journey taken by the messenger after The Battle of Trafalgar in 1805, travelling overland from Falmouth to London in a relay of horses and carriages following the highways of the day.

Now it's your turn to discover The Trafalgar Way and explore the countryside, villages and urban landscapes which give it its character. Choose a location on or close to the route and pick an eye-catching scene or feature. Then send us a stunning photograph or create a painting, sketch or other two-dimensional artwork to showcase your chosen location in a Postcard from The Trafalgar Way.

You could win up to £1000, travel to London for a special ceremony, be part of a travelling exhibition and be awarded a whole host of other exciting prizes!

Find out the history and detailed route of The Trafalgar Way at thetrafalgarway.org. Here you can also find route descriptions mentioning example features and some photographs to inspire you.

The closing date for entries is 16th April 2021

Your questions answered...

What kind of subjects can I portray in my photograph or artwork?

We are looking for images that would make a great 'Postcard from The Trafalgar Way', the historic route taken by Lt. John Richards Lapenotiere from Falmouth to London. Whether it is a countryside view or townscape, a detail of a building, a picture of wildlife, or a modern scene of people or events it should feature a scene on or close to The Trafalgar Way route.

How close to The Trafalgar Way does the subject of my picture have to be?

Our guideline is to keep within a couple of miles of The Trafalgar Way route which you can check out on our online interactive map – see thetrafalgarway.org/the-traffic-way-map. There is some leeway, but the closer to The Trafalgar Way the better! For more details on this please go to our website.

When you submit your image you will be asked to enter some information indicating the location of your subject matter.

I don't live anywhere near The Trafalgar Way – can I enter this competition?

As long as you are a UK resident you can enter the competition. If you cannot physically travel to the route then the best option is to create a painting or other two-dimensional artwork based on a feature or subject on or close to the Trafalgar Way route, using your imagination or a bit of research.
